Highlights

Boo

A cool rain drenched the streets on Halloween, but but it didn't dampen the spirits. Little ghosts and goblins were out in force, many carrying umbrellas to ward off the downpour. The indoor Halloween parties were especially successful. Please see page 12.

Great honour

Former Stanhope Reeve Elgin Stouffer has been chosen as the Highlander of the Year for his devotion to this county. Please see page 2.

Sparkling diamond

Minden's new ball diamond is in great shape and should be ready for play when the season opens next spring. Please see page 6.

Chainsaw art

Some do it with knives, others use a hammer and chisel. But tool of choice for woodcarver Thomas Penney is a chainsaw. Please see page 8.

The Haliburton Redmen Senior football team had a lot to celebrate last Wednesday when they captured the Kawartha West Championship title by defeating Fenelon Falls 24-21. Please see pg. 10.

Proxy voting helps elect full slate to Chamber

The weeks of pre-election manoeuvring came to a head last Wednesday when it came time to vote for the new board of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce.

Traditionally a tame and often uncontested process, the election of chamber directors turned into a procedural battle as well as a serious campaign this time around.

A list of recommended candidates—separate from the one put forth by the board's nominating committee—was being circulated to chamber members about a week in advance of the chamber's annual meeting at the PineStone Inn.

With seven nominations coming from the floor, there was a total of 19 people vying for the 12 vacancies on the board. Several of the candidates had done their advance footwork, collecting proxy votes while the outgoing board investigated the legality of this practice.

In spite of strong objections from some, proxies were allowed and the resulting vote saw all 12 candidates whose names appeared on the list elected to the board.

Those elected to sit on the board for

Staff resigns in wake of election

In the wake of last Wednesday's election of directors to the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, all three staff members have submitted their resignations.

The election was held last Wednesday and the following day the newly-elected officers held their first meeting at the county office in Minden. This was when the resignations from chamber manager Shirley Rapson, and assistants Cindy Rodley and Marilyn Gibbon were tendered.

The resignations were effective as of Friday, but Chamber President Lyn Stevens said volunteer staff will be filling in to keep the office open until the vacancies can be filled. The motor vehicle licencing service provided by the chamber, though, will not be available until new staff can be trained. This service is still available through the licencing office in Haliburton.

At Thursday's meeting, the board also voted to thank the staff "for their professional efforts while in service of the chamber and its staff."

Thursday's meeting was called for the election of executive members of the chamber. Stevens was elected as president while Bob Stinson was elected vice president. Darlene Johnson is the new secretary and Craig Saunders is the treasurer.

Ride heading to greener pastures

The Ride for Sight will not be returning to Minden this summer after all.

Minden Reeve Ray Moore received a letter last week from the Ride's executive planning committee that said this summer's Ride will be held in Peterborough at Trent University.

"I feel bad about it," said Moore, who fought in favour of having council invite the huge event back to town. "I guess they just wanted a little more security."

The Ride for Sight, which attracted more than 5,000 motorcyclists to Minden during the 10th anniversary Ride last summer, was recently welcomed back by council with some reservations.

However, the Ride's planning committee decided to take the event to the larger facility in Peterborough, where they feel they will get a warmer reception from the local politicians.

Contacted Friday, committee chairman Syd Collier told The Times that they had reviewed the available facilities at the Minden Fair Grounds and decided there is no longer enough room for the charity Ride. "We went back and revisited the area and it's just not humanly possible."

He said the new ball diamond cuts into the available camping space. "There's no way we can do it, as much as we'd like to."

Collier praised the people of Minden for the tremendous hospitality they have extended to the participants and organizers over the years. At the same time, though, he expressed frustration over the dealings he has had with council, and with Councillor Mike Maher in particular.

"I think we've been good to Minden and Minden has not been good to us,"

Elgin Stouffer a worthy recipient of award

There was a bit of controversy over some issues at last Wednesday's annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, but when it came to the selection of Highlander of the Year, there was full approval.

Elgin Stouffer, a long-time supporter of the chamber and the county as a whole, was given a boisterous standing ovation when chamber president John Mateer awarded him the honour.

Highlander of the Year is among the greatest honours a county resident can receive. It recognizes a long-time dedication to the people of the Highlands.

Last year it was Dr. Harry Goode who received the honour, and before that it was Earl Cooper.

In addition to being named Highlander of the Year, Stouffer was also made an honorary member of the chamber. This suggestion, which was made by chamber director Al Mayo, was given sound support by those in attendance.

"Elgin Stouffer is a man who is willing to give of himself," said Jessie Pflug from Bowes and Cocks Real Estate, where Stouffer works. In his private life and at work, Stouffer is one of this county's biggest promoters, she told 160 people in the banquet room at the PineStone Inn.

In 1939, Stouffer's family came to the Highlands to operate a lumber mill at Halls Lake. Stouffer worked at the family-owned mill for 22 years while also serving on the Ontario Accident Prevention Association, said Pflug. For two years he served as the association's president and launched a successful campaign that significantly reduced the number of accidents in the industry.

The mill burned down in 1984, said Pflug, and that's when Stouffer came to work at Bowes and Cocks. Selling homes and cottages, though, has been just a part of his job, she said. While taking prospective residents to see available listings, Stouffer also takes the opportunity to sell them on the many benefits that this county has to offer its residents, she said.

Other factors that make Stouffer a worthy recipient of this award include his 13 years of service as a councillor and Reeve of Stanhope Township, active involvement with the chamber, and his work for five years as a weather correspondent with CKLY radio in Lindsay.

Stouffer invested a great deal of time and effort into his radio reports, said Pflug. He had to get up at 5 a.m. to compile the weather information for the broadcast. In addition, he supplied listeners with list of coming events to help them plan their visits to the county.

Cross-country skiers also owe Stouffer a debt of gratitude. Pflug said he was one of the key players in tying together the network of trails in the county. She said this project was a part of Stouffer's vision of the county becoming a year-round attraction for tourists.

Stouffer, who said the award came as a complete surprise, kept his remarks brief. He praised the chamber for promoting the many activities and attractions it has to offer visitors, saying this is the best vehicle to ensuring continued growth in the area's tourism industry.

Elgin Stouffer, left, was named Highlander of the Year at last Wednesday's annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Presenting the award was chamber president John Mateer.

'When is Elinor going to deliver?' Brandt asks

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The leader of the provincial Progressive Conservative Party is continuing to keep up the pressure on the Liberal government for its failure to provide funds for the expansion of Haliburton's 18-bed chronic care facility.

"I think it's morally wrong for a government to promise the voters of Ontario one thing just prior to an election, and then turn around and tell them another — after they've been voted in for another three years in office," Brandt is quoted as saying in a party press release issued last Tuesday.

He says it is especially unfair when communities have worked hard to raise their share of the funds towards the hospital beds.

"The government is not only letting down the hospital administrators in Haliburton and Peterborough, it's letting down the community groups who have raised money through bakes sales and bottle drives," says Brandt.

Last Monday Brandt again attacked Health Minister Elinor Caplan in the Legislature for not providing the promised funding.

"I would like to advise the minister that in discussions I have had recently with the people of the Haliburton and Peterborough area, they said to me that Elinor told them that they were going to get 88 chronic care beds. Now when is Elinor going to deliver?"

Caplan answered that the Ministry of Health and the Ministry of Community and Social Services are working together to develop a long-term care system, "something which we have been told is long overdue."

"We want to make sure before we build that we review the options and alternatives to make sure we are meeting the real needs of communities," said Caplan. "We have said that, as we review these situations, if in fact the need is for beds and beds alone then we will proceed, and if in fact there are alternatives that should be considered then in fact we are open to making sure that those alternatives are considered."

The 88 beds that Brandt referred to are the 18 slated for the Haliburton Hospital and 70 promised to Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Brandt first became aware of the issue when he received a copy of a full-page ad that Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis placed in the two local newspapers.

Another lesson

The Ride for Sight is gone from Minden and all the griping in the world isn't going to bring it back. But if there's a lesson to be learned from the loss of this event, it's that aggressive salesmanship is becoming increasingly important in the tourism marketplace.

Minden Council took a bold step in the dark several years back when it decided to welcome this charity event into the community. The prospect of motorcycle gangs rolling into town for two days of partying had most communities slamming the door on this event, but Minden decided it was worth the risk.

That gamble paid off big for Minden. The Ride brought thousands of people to town for a weekend each summer, garnered wide-spread publicity for the town, and resulted in only minor damages and inconvenience. Sure, there were members of motorcycle gangs here, but they did not come for trouble.

In the mean time, Peterborough was watching what happened here. And now, after several good years for the Ride in Minden, the City is apparently satisfied that this isn't the horror show that some communities first feared it would be.

Peterborough decided it wants the Ride and they came after it. They quietly courted the event and in the end they won out.

That's what it's like. If we want to attract new events or even hang on to what we have, this community, with the leadership of council, will have to become more aggressive.

We witnessed another unforgettable example of aggressive salesmanship just a few months ago when the chamber of commerce was deciding where to put the Highland Games. People in Haliburton Village decided they wanted the event, they went after it and they got it.

The situation here is far from desperate, though. The white water races, the sled dog derby, the Heineken Yard, the Black Bear Rally—these are just some of the events that Minden still has going for it.

However, we can't just sit back and expect that the organizers will keep bringing their events back year after year. We have to anticipate that there will be other communities out there that would welcome any of these events to their towns. We have to realize that unless we make it attractive for them to stay, they may be looking elsewhere.

'LOOKS LIKE SOMEONE'S CHASING THE BUCK AGAIN.'

Reality is more absurd than the imagination

Dear Mr. Black:

You like to write about fakirs and charlatans in your column, from rascals on Parliament Hill to Toronto's ongoing love affair with itself - how is it that you have never tackled the amazing world of TV Evangelism? Why are you mum about those sanctimonious hucksters who take over my TV set every Sunday morning? Too hot to handle?

Yours,

Mary Jane Chapman,
Ottawa.

No, Mary Jane, I don't ignore the TVangelists because I fear the wrath of their faithful audience. It's not the prospect of spending eternity in a brimstone-filled Jacuzzi that keeps me off their case either. The reason I haven't gotten around to writing about the Blow Dry Brethren in their

by Arthur Black polyester three-pieces and diamond-encrusted Rolexes is...

How could I possibly improve on reality?

Would you, Mary Jane Chapman - would anyone - have believed me if, ten years ago I'd spun a tale about a TV preacher and his mascara-heavy wife who praised God on Sundays and shopped for air conditioned dog houses and gold plated toilets the other six days of the week?

Who ordered $100 worth of cinnamon buns so they could smell them? Who tried to fire a cook who'd neglected to put mustard on a hamburger?

That's the saga of Jim and Tammy Bakker - and only a morsel of it at that!

And that's only one of the Evangelical Vaudeville shows we've been treated to over the past little while. Consider Jerry Falwell, whom Jimmy Bakker scorns as a marauding capitalist. Bakker swears that Falwell, ex-head of The Moral Majority, stole the PTL Club away from him in a corporate takeover snatch worthy of T. Boone Pickens.

Then there's Oral Roberts, who, two years ago hijacked himself and announced on international television that God was going to kill him unless his followers came up with $4 and a half million U.S. Dopes to the end, they send their money in. Since then, Robert's fan kingdom has thinned out considerably, but don't feel too badly for him - he's still

Lawrence provides balance with anti-hunting talk

Editor:

I refer to your editorial in the October 23 edition of your newspaper in which you commented on my talk to students at Archie Stouffer School.

You criticized my statement that hunting was not a sport because, I noted, when humans hunt they set out with the intention of killing something, while those who participate in genuine sports set out merely to play the game. You further noted that this was my own opinion and should not have been offered to the students. You then added that my talk should have been followed by one given by a partisan of hunting so as to offer both sides of the story.

I draw the following to your attention: 1) My comment on sport hunting was made in answer to a specific question from a student; it was not part of my talk on conservation. 2) The reason that I was asked to talk to the school was precisely to give the other side of the environmental issue following a talk to the same students by those who are presently promoting the virtues of hunting and trapping under the auspices of the Project Wild program.

You wrote your editorial in ignorance of the facts, which, as a journalist who has written for such newspapers as the London, England, Daily Mail, Paris

Soir, The Toronto Star, the now defunct Telegram, and others, I know is sailing too close to the winds of propriety and editorial freedom.

I note that when the promoters of hunting and trapping spoke to the school, you did not write an editorial suggesting that the anti-hunting, anti-trapping views be given.

Hyland Crest receives accolades

Editor:

We read in the newspapers so many negative comments about seniors living in a nursing home type environment. Stressing, instead, the importance of keeping them in their own homes with different home care programs to take care of their needs.

We tried this with our Dad and for a while it was okay, he had the independence and with living over our daughter's store, she could look in on him. After a few months, we found his memory was slipping and he would forget to eat at the right times, change his clothes or bathe without someone being there to constantly remind him. Most evenings he was alone and he awoke to an empty apartment, he wouldn't remember even if someone had just been to see him. He became very lonely, he lost weight, he would just sit in his big armchair with his pipe and the kitten our daughter gave him and shut out the world.

After much persuasion, he gave up his apartment and came to live with us. We found very much to our surprise that his memory of the present had deteriorated but the years before Mom died and when he was younger were still very keen. When he spoke to friends he had farmed with in the early years, he related many interesting facts about sizes of farms, good crops and bad years. So we started taking him to visit old friends as often as we could.

He would stay with our daughter Linda for a while to help give us a break. As time went by, it became more difficult. He needed more constant care and direction. If we went away for a few hours, he wouldn't get himself anything to eat or drink, he would just sit there until we came back. If we went for a walk we would have to watch him or he would get lost.

He always liked playing cards and when staying in Minden would go to the euchre games at the church. He could still play euchre quite well.

My husband and I had just retired

Wedding bells ring in the new year

I still don't know why they planned the wedding for New Year's Eve, 7:30 p.m. I had been invited to sing and they, being good friends, were the kind of people I could not easily refuse. The reception following was to be held in the church basement. Everything was planned to end at about 9:30 to 10:00 p.m.; not including cleanup. And then I was responsible for a New Year's prayer vigil, same place, to start an hour later.

She was determined, outspoken, forthright; he was painfully shy. If there ever was a metaphor for sun and shadow, they were it. The minister and the organist were there well ahead of schedule. I was tuning up in the back room. The church started to fill with relatives, friends and choir members. The groom and his best man arrived. It was a small wedding party ("Keep it simple" she said. "On New Year's Eve?" I wondered). The strains of "O Perfect Love" and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" filtered through the sanctuary. Light inside, dark outside, it was in that deep mid-winter night...

I sensed something wrong the moment I heard the almost tangible change of the congregation's

Directions

by Edward Moll

light conversation to embarrassed whispers "Where is she?" And then an outspoken, forthright, determined whisper, "I won't start until she is here!"

Seven-thirty passed. Seven forty-five and the organist had run out of wedding music repertoire; we heard "O Perfect Love" again. We were to hear it three times that evening. By eight-fifteen the congregation resumed its light-hearted banter and some people came to the front pew to encourage a visibly mortified and shaken groom. Nobody left.

Eight-thirty was announced by a wave of whispers "She's here!" The bride-to-be strode to the back to greet her mother, who had not only lost the directions to the church, but also the presence of mind to ask someone.

Everybody breathed a sigh of relief, especially the organist. The groom had a curious expression on his face that I could only translate as "What the hell am I getting into?"

She repeated the vows in such a determined and forthright manner they fairly rang off the walls. I, standing almost directly in front of them, could hardly hear his words.

And so, an hour late and none too soon, they were declared husband and wife, in the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

The rest of the evening was a blur of meal, photographs, songs, looking at the clock and cleaning up after the new couple to ring in the new year.

Fifteen years. Where are they? I don't know. Still married? I hope so. I remember that night like yesterday. Dark outside, light inside. Waiting expectantly and although late, the expected one arrived. Promises made, songs and prayers offered, meal celebrated, new life in a new year. No wonder Jesus used a wedding banquet as a picture of God's kingdom....

... or is it?

taking in about $3 million a month.

All in all, he's probably in better shape than Jimmy Swaggart, who was number one on the Bible Thumpers Hit Parade until photographic proof showed that he liked to indulge in low rent rendezvous with equally low rent chippies.

Now I ask you, Mary Jane - could Hans Christian Andersen or the Brothers Grimm invent anything as whacky as this? Could Life itself offer anything more preposterous?

Well, actually ... yes.

I have before me (right beside Mary Jane Chapman's missive) a newspaper item about the latest religious phenomenon to surface in the Bible Belt. It is the Calvary Chapel Surfing Association of Fort Lauderdale. One of their prayers beseeches the Lord on High to send down "a good set of waves and protection from sharks."

"We like to call ourselves surfers for Jesus" says James Gould, one of the board-toting disciples, who even ventures to dip his big toe into the stormy sea of theosophical speculation: "I'm sure if Jesus were alive today he would be a surfer. Jesus would probably not even use a board" says Gould. "He would probably get out there and ride the waves on his bare feet."

At least the Surfers For Jesus haven't set up a TV show or a toll-free number to milk millions out of their money - yet.

I don't know what can be said about the surfers or the Bakkers or the rest of the plague of polyester shysters who worm their way through television sets and into the hearts of the gullible each week.

I wonder what Christ would do if he could see what they've done with His teachings.

I don't know, but I suspect one verse in the Bible would probably cover it.

It's the shortest one in the book - John 11:35. Jesus wept.

Play ball! Minden's new diamond set to go

There's no cubic zirconia here. Minden's new ball diamond is a real gem.

Lightly referred to as the 'Mindome', the new diamond that was under construction for much of the summer is 99 per cent complete and Parks Superintendent Ivan Ingram says there is no doubt that it will be ready to see some action when the snow leaves the field next spring.

Located behind the Minden arena on the Fair Grounds, the new diamond complements the two that are already in place in that area. This diamond, though, outshines the others by a long shot. It comes complete with sheltered dug-outs, lights, a gravel warning track and fencing all around the field.

In addition, a spacious washroom facility that can double as a change room has been built beyond left field. This facility will be able to service all three diamonds and the camping area in the woods beyond the field.

Ingram said he is pleased with the way the project has turned out. Funded in half by the township and half by the Ministry of Tourism, the work on this $156,000 project was carried out over the summer by Alison Construction.

Among the attractive features this new diamond has to offer are magnetic bases and an electronic scoreboard. The bases, which are held in place by powerful magnets, are simple to set in place and are safer than conventional bases because they will release from their settings if a player hits them hard. The scoreboard, which can be operated by remote control, will be a big plus for fans, especially during tournament play.

The creation of this new playing field is part of the Minden Township Park Masterplan. Other work outlined in this plan that is to be done when funding comes available is the creation of hiking trails and upgrading of the camping area. Some preliminary work to the camping area and hiking trails has already been done. This includes includes brushing, filling and clearing. The masterplan calls for the eventual creation of 70 campsites.

Minden's new ball diamond is ready and waiting for the spring thaw.

Peterborough outcourts Minden for Ride for Sight

Collier said, referring to council.

"It was on again off again. They couldn't make up their minds," said Collier. "It was an uphill battle all the way."

Collier said it seemed that Maher was "dead set against" the Ride returning to Minden. When he met with council for the first time this year to discuss plans for this summer's ride, Collier said he was told that the event would be turned away if a vote was to be taken at that time. Since two council members were absent from the meeting, though, the vote was postponed for a month.

Besides the loss of camping space to the new ball diamond, another consideration Collier's committee had to discuss was the possibility of not having the arena for their use. The arena may be undergoing major structural repairs this summer that would mean it could not be used.

Collier said that council had promised to let him know by mid-October if the arena would be available. However, he said he was never contacted.

Maher, who was the local chairman of last summer's Ride, said he was not "dead set against" the Ride. Instead, he said he had some serious concerns. He noted that in the end he voted in favour of its return to Minden.

"Well, I guess that's the thanks you get," said Maher. "I'm sorry Collier is taking it that way." As last year's chairman, he said he felt he did all he could to help iron out some of the problems.

In response to the question of the arena's availability, Maher said council still does not know if the repairs will be going ahead this summer. He said that if it's possible to get the work underway in the summer, it will have to be done. Council can not take the risk of having to keep the arena closed into the fall in order to accommodate a weekend event in the summer.

Moore said he heard through the grapevine that Ride organizers were looking to Peterborough and Lindsay after Collier made his initial visit to Minden council this fall. "They were looking to Peterborough and Lindsay because they weren't sure about us," he said.

In fact, the committee was looking at several alternative locations, said Collier. These included Peterborough, Lindsay, Orangeville and Kinmount.

Peterborough was anxious to host the event, he said. "In Peterborough, they were after us. They said they'd love to have it," said Collier. They even offered to postpone another event that was slated for that weekend to accommodate the Ride, he said.

The spacious facilities at Trent University are ideal for this event, he said. They even have the 1,500 student residence units at their disposal for the June 9 and 10 weekend.

When Collier first came to council, they were confronted by doubts that Minden would be able to continue to accommodate this growing event. At that time, though, Collier said the loss of the area now occupied by the ball diamond would not be a problem and they could work around the lost use of the arena.

He told council then that another community had expressed an interest in hosting the event, but that organizers preferred returning to Minden.

"I'm sorry to see them not coming back," said Minden's Deputy Reeve Bern Berry. "It's the biggest event Minden has or has ever had. You hear about it on the radio and TV, and read about it in the papers," said Berry, "you can't buy that kind of advertising."

Berry said the township was fortunate to get the grant to build a new ball diamond at the Fair Grounds. He said you just can't allow motorcycles into that area. The possible loss of the arena did not appear to be a problem when council met with Collier, said Berry. Council was told that organizers could get large tents to use for the weekend.

Although council expressed a willingness to host the Ride this summer with their unanimous support, the Reeve said Ride organizers did not make a commitment to return. They had to take the matter back to their planning committee, said Moore.

Maher said Minden was outcourted by the offer from Peterborough. He said he was disappointed that Minden was not given the opportunity to make a counter-offer.

Election brings many new faces to board

Numbered ballots are disqualified in Chamber election.

the coming year are Lyn Stevens (Red Umbrella), Anne Larcade (Town and Country Travel), Ken Rydman (Perfect Prints), Curtis Eastmure (Maple Sands), Joachim Matysick (Sandy Lane), Bob Stinson (Willow Beach Cottages), Craig Saunders (Northern Eagle), Shawn Hagerman (Hagerman Financial Planning Services), Bob Jennings (Loralea), Darlene Johnson (Hollow Valley), Ann Barker (Barker Catering), and Jennifer Renall (Nordic Trails).

The matter of whether or not to accept proxy voting stirred up a debate that was ultimately settled by a vote of chamber members in attendance.

Chamber president John Mateer, who was also acting as chairman of the nominating committee, announced at the outset that the board had sought legal advice and decided that proxies would not be accepted. Curtis Eastmure, one of the candidates who had collected proxy votes, immediately objected to this decision. He too had obtained a legal opinion which contradicted the board's opinion. He made a motion to accept the proxies.

Al Mayo and Ray Moore, both of whom were chamber directors and candidates, spoke out against the use of proxy votes. Moore contested that the board set a precedent in the summer by not allowing proxy votes when it was deciding on the location of last summer's Highland Games.

"I agree that what you've said is right in law . . . possibly," said Moore. However, he said it is morally wrong.

In response to the precedent that Moore referred to, Eastmure said that decision violated the chamber's constitution. He also noted that proxy votes have been accepted at previous elections of the board.

When the issue was put to a vote, 43 members raised their hands in favour of accepting proxies while 17 opposed it.

This, however, was not the end of the controversy surrounding this election. A chamber member stood and recommended that the election ballots be destroyed for two reasons—they were numbered and there was not enough room for the names of all 19 candidates.

"The ballots are all numbered and (the numbers) appear to have been recorded," he said. "We have a democratic right to secret ballots." He made a motion that all the ballots be destroyed, which was carried by a 36-19 vote.

The chamber president agreed that the ballots should not have been numbered, but said those numbers had not been recorded. He suggested that everyone tear off the upper right corner of their ballots where the numbers were printed. He insisted that the ballots should still be used and the names of the candidates could be printed on the backs.

Asked how the voting would be possible without ballots, Mateer responded with a second set that included all the names of the candidates. He said he had heard "rumblings going on for the past few days" and took the liberty of printing the second set of ballots.

Mateer said there was a problem with how the original slate of 12 candidates was derived and he knew there would be another seven people nominated from the floor.

Although new ballots were available Mateer insisted that the rejected ballots should still be used. He said everyone should rip off the upper right corner of these ballots where the numbers appeared and list all of the candidates on the back.

However, a motion to accept the second set of ballots had already been made, and had to be put to a vote. This motion was carried.

The newly-elected board held its first meeting last week, when the new president and executive officers were selected. Haliburton County Council may also choose to appoint a new representative to sit on the board since Ann Barker, who represented the county for the past year, is now an elected board member.

Atoms open with three close games

by Corrinne Howell

Hi! Here we are again with yet another season of hockey under way.

The Minden Atom A team has started the season on the fighting side, with three close games played, one lost and two drawn. They met Ops with the hopes of a win.

Minden came out strong, but Ops was able to sneak through to score their first goal in the first ten minutes. The game was very fast which lead to several minor penalties for both teams.

Although Minden dominated most of the play in the first period, it was Ops that came through to score a second goal.

In the second period Minden continued to out-play Ops and was rewarded when Jeff Wray scored Minden's first goal assisted by Ryan Ladurantaye and Curtis Fielding. The game continued to be hard and fast with Minden retaining the upper hand. A second goal was scored by Daniel Howell from an excellent pass by Andrew McKelvey.

At the start of the third period neither team was ready to call it quits, and we were treated to some excellent hockey, which led Minden to score their third goal, scored by Andrew McKelvey assisted by Chris Eskelin.

Unfortunately Minden held the lead for only a short time as Ops was able to score, to tie the game at 3-3.

Well done Minden.

Artist's creations a chip off the old block

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

All sorts of wildlife is coming out of the woodwork at Sandy Lane Resort.

The resort, located on Highway 35 near Hall's Lake, now has a family of bears, a raccoon, a beaver, and loon and a bass taking up residence in the yard. They are all part of a wood carving display which was completed two weeks ago.

The artist, Thomas Penney of Orillia, carved the life-like figures from two stumps in the middle of the resort's yard.

Joachim Matysick, the owner of the resort, saw Penney's work at a restaurant on Highway 11 and contacted the artist to go to work on the two large stumps.

The taller of the two stumps has been turned into a free-standing figure of a large brown bear, while the other stump is now adorned with several relief figures of local wildlife.

Almost as amazing as the end result, is the method that Penney uses to create his works. He does most of the carving using an ordinary, gas-powered chainsaw.

The 42-year-old Penney was born in Vancouver, British Columbia and worked as a lumberjack for a while. It was in one of the camps where he was working that Penney was first introduced to chainsaw wood carving.

He says the main leisure activities of the lumberjacks were gambling and drinking, and since he didn't do much of either he needed other ways to fill his spare time.

One of the lumberjacks in Penney's camp used to carve small wooden bears with his chainsaw and sell them on the side. The money he made from his art was almost as much as the money he earned as a lumberjack.

It was from this enterprising colleague that Penney first learned how to use a chainsaw for more than cutting down trees.

That was 14 years ago, and since that time Penney has left his mark all over North America.

Five years ago, the artist was commissioned by the Toronto Roman Catholic diocese to carve a statue of Pope John Paul II to commemorate the Pontiff's visit to Midland.

"I had never carved a human face before, and here I was carving the most famous face in the world," he remembers. The statue, standing at over 11 feet in height, is located at the Martyr's Shrine near Midland. The Shrine was built to commemorate eight priests who had died during the Indian Wars in the mid-1600's.

The log that Penney used for the statue of the Pope was 450-years-old, so the tree it came from would have been alive at the time the priests were martyred.

Penney has many other of his works on public display. He carved a large grizzly bear for the Toronto Zoo, the bears and eagle located in College Park, and a Man of War for the Sportsman Show.

In the near future he will be working on a wall mural of the Last Supper for a religious theme park in Niagara Falls. The mural will measure 50 feet high by 100 feet long.

Large projects seem to be a specialty of Penney's. So far, he has carved 78 statues which are more than 12 feet high.

The two sculptures he did for Sandy Lane took him, and his wife about 50 hours to complete. Penney says he didn't have any idea what he was going to do with the two stumps until he had a chance to look them over.

He chose wildlife which are common to the local area and says he tried to let the piece fit in with the family camping atmosphere of the resort. To reflect this attitude, he included two bear cubs playing with a ball on one side of the relief.

Using two different sized chainsaws, Penney stripped the bark from the stumps and carved most of the details in the sculptures. He used a small drill to do little details, like the eyes on the animals, and then burnt the wood with a propane torch to give his figures colour and texture.

Chainsaw carving is not a new art, says Penney, and has been around since chainsaws were first invented. To the artist, the chainsaw becomes an extension of the arm.

Because he's been using a chainsaw for nearly 20 years, Penney says, to him, using one to create detailed works of art is no big event. "But it is to people who can't even trim a bush with one."

Penney has travelled all over North America going where ever there is a demand for his art. He has worked in Texas, Colorado, New York City, New Jersey, Tennessee and Florida.

It was during one of his stays in Florida that Penney met artist Rex Harden, who convinced him to attend art school to refine his skills. "He notice I had talent but said I was uncultured. He told me to go to college to learn how to do what I was already doing."

This led Penney to study at the Eckert College of Art in St. Petersburg, Florida. He is capable of working with any medium such as bronze or clay, but says he sticks with wood because, "people love wood carvings."

When working on a project, Penney uses local woods because he says they tend to weather better. His favourite wood to work with is B.C. cedar because of the smell and the look of it.

Although he spends much of his time travelling, Penney says he considers Orillia his home and is currently working out of the Grand Restaurant on Highway 11 near Kilworthy.

Minden students support school in The Gambia

Clarence McInerney presented a slide show on The Gambia to ASES students.

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Students of Minden's Archie Stouffer Elementary School are reaching out to help students half-way around the world in The Gambia, West Africa.

They are donating a portion of their profits from this year's fund-raising magazine subscription sales to help outfit a classroom of 50 students in the African country.

On the local front, they will also be contributing to the Hyland Crest Bus Fund.

The donation to The Gambia is being made through Help A Village Effort (HAVE) a local volunteer organization which sponsors improvements in third world nations.

Clarence McInerney, a member of HAVE and a former principal of Archie Stouffer, has spent eight months in The Gambia training school teachers and he presented students at the school with a slide show last Wednesday to show them how their donation will be used.

The slides showed what village life in the economically depressed county is like especially for students who go to school in one-room huts with dirt floors.

It costs the Haliburton County Board of Education about $7,000 to supply 50 students, but it cost only $740 to outfit a similar number of students in The Gambia.

Because the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) will match the donation dollar for dollar, the students at Archie Stouffer will only have to donate $370 in order to provide for a class of 50 students and one teacher.

The money will be used to buy chalk, paper, bristol board, pens, pencils, rulers, notebooks, English textbooks and black-board paint and plywood.

According to McInerney, the situation in The Gambia is unbearable, with a life expectancy of 35-years-old, and a 90 per cent illiteracy rate.

His proposal is to begin improving the reading instruction at the Primary One level.

"During my volunteer work in The Gambia helping the Inset Programme, I found a severe reading problem in Primary One to Six in many classrooms," McInerney wrote in a proposal to The Gambia's Minister of Education and CIDA. "Researching I have proved, beyond doubt, that the basic trouble was in Primary One as many students in other classes could not read the words from the Primary One English."

Many of the teachers are capable, according to McInerney, but are using time consuming methods which do not achieve the desired results.

By outfitting the classes with proper supplies, and training teachers and teaching assistants in improved reading instruction methods at the Primary One level, McInerney hopes the literacy rate in The Gambia will be improved. Although the pilot project won't get under way until 1990, he says the supplies are needed now.

Glen Carter, a teacher at Archie Stouffer, says he got the idea for the donation from an environmental conference he attended which stressed the importance of thinking globally and acting locally.

By donating to both the Hyland Crest bus and the school system in The Gambia the students are going to be able to help those at home and abroad.

The students will be donation about 10 per cent of the profits from the magazine sales to the two causes. This amounts to about $600. The rest of the money helps pay for student activities such as field trips, or school sweaters and t-shirts.

HAVE is already involved in helping the people of The Gambia by sponsoring the digging of four wells in villages to provide clean drinking water.

Senior Redmen capture Kawartha West title

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Overcoming frigid conditions, a relentless Fenelon Falls running attack and an inconsistent offence, the Haliburton Senior Redmen football team persevered to a 24-21 victory and earned the title of 1989 Kawartha West Champions.

Neither team could muster much of an offence in the opening quarter of last week's play-off held at Fenelon Falls Secondary School. Although the Falcons made it clear they were going to stick to the ground game which gave them so much success this season.

Offensively the Redmen relied on the running abilities of Darren Danylyshen and the passing combination of Brent Flood and quarterback Shaun Perrin.

The Falcons led off the scoring in the second quarter with a series of running plays, working their way from the mid-field and finally taking it into the end-zone from the one yard line.

The extra point was good and Fenelon led by a 7-0 score.

The two teams traded punts, and then Haliburton began its first scoring drive with a 10 yard run and a 25 yard run by Danylyshen to give the Redmen a first down on the Fenelon 22-yard-line.

A miscue in the Haliburton backfield resulted in a fumble and a loss of five yards on the second down. On the next play Danylyshen advanced the ball seven yards to put the Redmen in a third down and eight situation on the 20-yard-line.

Gambling on the third down, Flood and Perrin combined for a 20 yard touchdown pass to put the Redmen on the score board. The team fumbled the extra-point opportunity and trailed the Falcons by a score of 7-6.

The Fenelon team began a march back up the field, but ended the first half on a missed field goal attempt from 47 yards out.

Haliburton kicked off to start the second half, and Fenelon took up the attack where they left off, using a series of short-gain running plays to frustrate the Redmen defense and work their way towards the goal line.

Faced with the a third down and two situation, Falcon quarterback Scott Simser found receiver Don Forsyth all alone at the Redmen 10-yard-line and Forsyth breezed into the end-zone to give the Falcons a 14-6 lead after the extra point.

Haliburton didn't waste any time getting back into the game. Taking the ball on the 40-yard-line, Perrin threw a second down, eight-yard pass which found Flood.

Flood shrugged off the Falcon defense and won a 62-yard foot race to the end-zone, scoring his second touchdown of the game. A two point conversion try was stopped by the Fenelon defense and the Redmen trailed the Falcons 14-12.

Sticking to the formula of running up the middle, Fenelon again marched down the field. In what seemed to be a replay of their previous touchdown, the Falcons short yarded their way to the 24-yard-line and Simser threw a touchdown pass to the end-zone, giving Fenelon a 21-12 lead.

Flood ran the kick-off 43 yards, and then took a pass from Perrin and ran the ball to the Falcon six-yard-line. Danylyshen converted Flood's effort into six points when he powered through the Fenelon defense for a touchdown.

Haliburton tried to make up some ground with another two-point conversion, but were stopped at the line of scrimmage, to leave the score at 21-18 for the Falcons.

Fenelon was unable to move the ball after the Haliburton kick-off and was forced to punt. Haliburton started the fourth quarter with the ball at mid-field.

They began their own sustained running attack and moved the ball to the Fenelon 11-yard-line on a third down with two yards to go.

Haliburton ran for the first down, put were penalized for unnecessary roughness, moving them back to the 17-yard-line. On the next play, Fenelon answered with an unnecessary roughness penalty of their own, and the Redmen advanced to the nine-yard-line with a first down.

A three yard run and a four yard run on the next two plays gave the Redmen a chance to go ahead for the first time in the game as they found themselves at the two-yard-line on the third down.

Danylyshen blew into the end-zone to put the Redmen ahead by a score of 24-21, with what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Although the Falcons threatened the Redmen lead in the last minutes of the game, coming as close as 26 yards to the end-zone before fumbling, they were unable to regain their effective running game.

A last-ditch effort to tie the game on a 45-yard field goal try fell short and the Redmen were able to move the ball out of danger to ensure the win.

At the same time that the Senior Redmen were celebrating their victory in Fenelon Falls, the Junior Redmen were watching their season come to end in Lindsay.

The Juniors lost to the L.C.V.I Lancers by a 7-0 score in a defensive battle for the Kawartha West Junior title. Lancer quarterback Dave Lackey hit tight-end Garth Scott for a 10-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter for the only major score of the game.

The Redmen had a chance to tie the game in the fourth quarter, when they moved to a first and goal situation on the Lancer eight-yard-line but the L.C.V.I. defense held tight to secure the victory.

Haliburton Coach Gary Brohman said the Seniors' victory was the result of a "tremendous effort." He especially recognized the efforts of Flood and Danylyshen who anchored the Redmen offense.

The Fenelon team relied on their powerful running backs and ran the same kind of offense that they ran in the two season match-ups between the teams. Fenelon won both of the regular season games by scores of 7-6 and 13-7.

Brohman says the success of this year's team was due, in part, to members of last year's championship Junior team who moved up to the Senior squad.

The Senior Redmen will now face the team from Kenner Collegiate who upset Crestwood by a score of 18-15. The game will be played at 2 p.m. this Tuesday in Peterborough.

Redman running back Darren Danylyshen fleet-foots it past a Falcon defender after taking a hand-off from quarter back Shaun Perrin. Danylyshen carried the ball 22 times and rushed for 175 yards in Haliburton's 24-21 victory in the Kawartha West Championship game against the Fenelon Falls Falcons.

late September, outlined the steps that have been taken to create more hospital beds in Haliburton and encouraged readers to join in the effort by clipping the page and mailing it to Victoria-Haliburton's Liberal MPP John Eakins.

Copies of the ad were sent to Premier David Peterson, Treasurer Robert Nixon, Eakins, Caplan, Brandt and New Democratic Party Leader Bob Rae.

Brandt initially brought up the issue in the Legislature in mid-October when he took the ad in to the Legislature and confronted the government, accusing them of being guilty of breach of trust.

He was told, by Nixon, that the focus of the province's health care policy had shifted and the money had been spent on other projects. At a local PC fundraising event on October 20 Brandt told The Times that he is planning to continue pressing the government for a renewed commitment.

"This will become an ongoing issue that will not fade away," he said.

In 1986, then Health Minister Murray Elstone announced the government would spend $850 million to open 4,400 new hospital beds across the province. To date, only 300 new beds have been opened.

Moores unsure if they will proceed with plans for their condo project

Minden's conditional approval of the rezoning for a 56-unit condominium complex is being viewed as more of a set back that progress by the developers.

Ray Moore said he and his wife, Gloria, are carefully weighing the risks of proceeding with this project without full support from council. He said it could cost more than $15,000 to undertake the engineering study that council has requested and there are still no guarantees it would be approved. (Moore is the Reeve of Minden but can not participate in council discussions on this because of his interest in the project)

At a recent meeting, council gave approval in principal to the rezoning of the Moores' property, located behind the registry office on Newcastle Street. Council asked that an engineering study be provided before it would be willing to consider passing a by-law for the rezoning.

Since the the previous council had already granted approval in principal when the project was first proposed in 1987, Moore says the request for a study is a step backwards for his project.

The resolution to approve the rezoning in principal was met with a split 2-2 vote at the last council meeting. With this in mind, the potential for the rezoning by-law being passed is in doubt. "Having a split council can cause a guy a lot of problems," said Moore.

The proposed development has been met with strong opposition from neighbours in the area who fear that high-density housing will alter the nature of their neighbourhood. Moore says he is not afraid to address these concerns in a site plan or at an Ontario Municipal Board Hearing. However, he said he is not sure that he wants to invest in an engineering study without prior rezoning approval.

Moore says council's attitude to this project is unfortunate. The Ministry of Housing has indicated that small townships should be doing more to provide affordable housing, said Moore. If this project goes ahead, Moore said is hoping that 20 of the units will be offered as subsidized housing.

The remaining units would be ideally suited to seniors, he said, because they are withing easy walking distance of Main Street. He said the plans call for an elevator between the apartments on the upper level and the retail outlets on Newcastle Street. This would encourage the residents to leave their cars at home when going shopping and ease the traffic situation.

Bicycle messenger makes good

Have you ever seen those kamikaze bicycle messengers in Toronto or Vancouver, fearful of nothing and dashing through traffic as if their lives depended on it?

When she was a teenager, Tania Aebi was just such a person. But her life was falling into a pattern of all-night donut shops and an attitude of the "only thing that you ever finish is your dinner."

Her parents told her she could not have her choice: she could have a college education or a 26-foot sloop, but there was a catch. If she took the boat, she would have to sail it around the world... alone!

Maiden Voyage is the result. A feat that even the heartiest of sailor might undertake proved to be the event that would make a young girl who had previously only been on a six-month pleasure cruise with "Mom and Dad" grow up, fast.

Over 27,000 miles with a cat as her companion, she runs into a tanker in the Mediterranean, battles a lightening storm off Gibraltar and more. She learns to depend on herself as she never though she would.

More than just a "sea story", it is the saga of the youngest person to ever circumnavigate the globe alone as she grows up.

Maiden Voyage is available through your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library.

Hyland Crest is a true home for many

and we were away on a long-planned vacation. While living with Linda, Dad became ill with the 'flu and was in hospital for a short time. Linda had to work and it was difficult at night as he would get up and get lost in the dark. It worried her that he would fall and hurt himself, there were some sleepless nights. Linda was fortunate to get him a bed in Hyland Crest Senior Citizen's Home. We were sceptical at first because we felt we should look after our own family but when we visited him after coming back from holidays, we were surprised to find his health and attitude had improved greatly. He told us he was happy there and independent. He said that as much as we tried to make him feel at home, he felt underfoot and rushed. At Hyland Crest he always had people around and someone to talk to. He said he was well looked after and as long as we came to visit when we could and looked after any needs, he wanted to stay there.

We bring him home for a week at a time quite regularly for birthdays, special occasions and Christmas etc. He doesn't miss out on any family get-togethers. He loves to come home with us and see the family here but also enjoys all the attention he gets when he goes back to his family at Hyland Crest.

They keep their minds and bodies active by special programs like exercising every morning where they all meet and have fun together.

They go on bus trips throughout the countryside. This is a favourite of Dad's. Even if he forgets about it the next day, he has a good feeling that stays with him. Our daughter heard he had been on a bus trip and the next day asked him how he had enjoyed his bus ride. He didn't really remember going but he knew that he had done something that he had enjoyed. We also know they need help to get funds for a new bus as their old one is not properly equipped for seniors and has become very uncomfortable for them.

They are always entertained by dedicated groups around Minden with sing-songs, bingo, euchre and teas. They have family dinners as guests of our parents, and entertainment is provided. Once a year is a formal dinner where they all get dressed up. The room is tastefully decorated with some of the decorations made by the residents and a delicious meal prepared especially for the occasion by their excellent kitchen pride and dignity. I understand the women can use the kitchen to bake for staff. It makes them feel special to entertain their families and gives them their bedtime snacks, if they choose to. There is a craft room where they turn out beautiful quilts and craft items which they sell to raise money for other equipment. Dad had a garden to look after but his legs and back gave him problems and they found it was too hard on him.

The home is in such a beautiful setting surrounded by hills and beautiful colour in the fall when the leaves turn. The lounges are filled with homey things, books, comfortable chairs, television sets, VCRs for special movies and family tapes. There are lots of windows and decks. Dad's favourite ceramic horses and wagon are on the television in his favourite lounge, where he can watch sports and talk to friends.

Recently our grandson was married in Minden and we asked the nurses if they would get him dressed up for us in his suit etc. They did more than that. They noticed his shoes needed polishing and a nurse even sent home for her husband to bring shoe polish so they could shine his shoes. He looked so smart and excited when we picked him up and it was one o'clock in the morning when we brought him back. One of the nurses met us at the door and put him to bed.

If that isn't caring for our parents, I don't know what is. Sure, they get lonesome once in a while, but he loves to joke and the girls and orderlies are right there to give him witty answers and all is well.

I have written this on behalf of my Dad Bob Mitchell who turned 90 on Sunday, October 22. He had a party at our place in Newmarket with over sixty of his family and friends who came to wish him well. He had another party at his home, Hyland Crest, with his grandson, Don Schlosser who has a birthday on the 22nd also. Our daughter brought cake for the occasion and we watched videos of his Newmarket birthday and also some of his grandson's wedding.

I could go on and on singing these praises, but I did want the people of Minden and area to know what a loving caring group of people are looking after our loved ones. Helping them feel wanted, independent and most of all to keep their dignity. God bless all of you. Marion and Ross Stickwood, Newmarket.

Atoms trounce Bobcaygeon

Seems hard to believe with the weather that we had last week that once again the hockey season is back.

With most of the boys ripe and ready from an action-packed power skating course, the Atom Tri-County team opened their regular schedule at home October 28 with an impressive win against Bobcaygeon.

From the first face off of the game it didn't take Minden too long to get the feel of a real game again, and take command of the puck.

With an onward rush, Nathan Stephenson drove the first one home assisted by Chuck Hopkins and Gavin Gartshore.

One minute later Sheamus Donnelly found another spot between the pipes and, assisted by Raymond Ranson and Adam Carpenter, finished the first period 2-0.

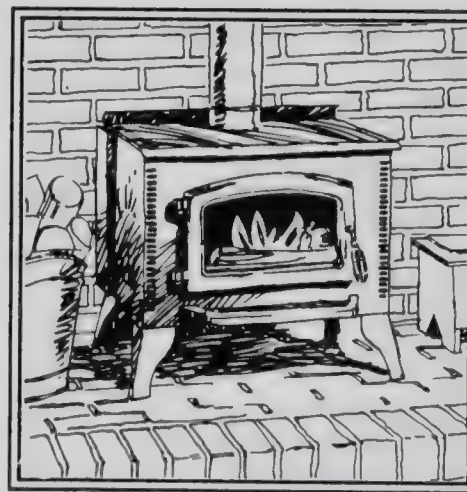

The second period saw equal action. At the 8:21 mark, Chuck Hopkins scored the third Minden goal assisted by Nathan Stephenson and Gavin Gartshore. And with 1:49 left in the period, Gartshore tucked the fourth one away with assists going to Stephenson and Donald Todd.

The third period was a repeat of the first and second with goals going to Sheamus

Suzuki relays some of his letters

Reflections

by Dr. David Suzuki

I have received a number of thoughtful, often moving letters in response to my column. As more and more of us put our minds to the environmental problems, we increase our chances of finding solutions. Here's a sample.

"I left the chemistry research and quality control field in 1979 because I was afraid for my health. Techniques used resulted in my getting carcinogenic solvents on my hands and inhaling these solvent fumes frequently. My company was a worse polluter than clients that we did effluent testing for.

"I am a chemically aware person but I feel helpless. I recycle; refrain from buying products that are harmful to the environment; walk, subway or bicycle in the city instead of using a car; I support environmental groups; I talk to my neighbour's children and other people about the importance of insects, spiders and worms; I teach a nutrition course and help to make participants aware of additives in foods; and I have just written my first letter to a politician expressing my concerns about the environment ... I provide interested clients with information on ethical investments.

"Is there anything else that I can do? We are running out of time and I feel anxious." Elizabeth Doucette, Toronto.

If everyone did as much, our problems would be a lot easier.

"I have been in business for over 25 years and am described as being slightly to the right of Attila the Hun. I support the PC party, supported Nixon for president and am currently a strong supporter of both Bush and Thatcher. This puts me in the classification of most of my slightly right wing friends who are involved in industry and Bay Street.

"However, we are taught from our first days in Business School that you do not spend your capital if you wish to survive. Screwing up our environment is SPENDING THE CAPITAL. It is not only dangerous, it is fatal.

"...government can promote fuel-efficient machines through the tax system ... The efficient would be lightly taxed and the inefficient heavily taxed ... increasing taxes on gasoline ... could discourage discretionary use of automobiles and trucks ... place much tougher water pollution rules against everybody including municipalities. The NDP talk about corporate polluters but some of the worst are municipalities and their distaste for touching raw sewage." Darcy Rector, President, Rector Food Ltd., Mississauga, Ont.

A letter correctly upbraided me for implying that cleaning up the environment might come at the cost of jobs:

"... instead of any 'trade-off' between jobs and the environment, the world desperately needs full employment in order to restore and protect the environment - in order to 'change our modes of thinking' and learn how to live as though future

Tallman excellent ambassador, says Fearry

"Quiet but stable leadership." That is the way Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey described the year Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman has spent as the Warden of Haliburton County.

The tribute was one of many offered to the Monmouth Reeve as he approached the end of his one-year term as head of the county government. The occasion was the annual Warden's Banquet, hosted by Tallman October 27 at the community centre in Wilberforce.

Fearrey said the Warden, whose term expires in December, has been an excellent ambassador for the county. He pointed out that Tallman's service to the county has stretched back many years. In particular, he noted the service the man performed as the county's representative on the Health Unit. He said Tallman had served on the Health Unit for many years and always provided excellent representation for the county.

Keith Tallman addresses the Warden's Banquet held Oct. 27 in the Monmouth Community Centre. He told the gathering he was disappointed in the reluctance of the provincial government to fund the continuing care addition to the Haliburton Hospital and to give approval to a county-wide waste disposal and recycling program.

The Dysart Reeve, who was Master of Ceremonies for the evening, paid tribute as well to Tallman's dedication to his constituency in Monmouth. Describing him as a community booster, Fearrey said that whenever there was an event taking place in his municipality, one could almost always find Keith and his wife, Sylvia, there supporting the activity.

A moving tribute was paid to the Warden by his daughter, Gail Krupa. "He has missed many meals, and during the past year Mom has found out what it's like to be 'single' again," she told the audience. "He is a dedicated politician, who spends many hours for the benefit of the county." Leading a toast to her father, Krupa told the audience, "We're very proud of him."

Others offering their best wishes included Victoria-Haliburton MP Bill Scott, MPP John Eakins, and the wardens of Peterborough and Hastings counties.

Tallman was brief in his response to the accolades. He described his year as head of the county as one that was trying and frustrating. He mentioned in particular the province's reluctance to give the go-ahead for the 18-bed continuing care addition to the Haliburton Hospital, and the fact the Ministry of Environment has not approved the master plan for waste disposal and recycling in the county.

"I hope the next warden will be able to pick up the pieces and convince Queen's Park that we are part of this province," he concluded. The audience greeted the warden's remarks with a standing ovation.

Fenelon provides stiff opposition for Minden

Donnery off the stick of Rob Camelon and Donald Todd. And with only 51 seconds left, Stephenson found a hole in Bobcaygeon's defensive line and slipped through to find the sixth and final spot in the back of the net to give the boys a 6-0 victory.

On October 30 we visited Fenelon Falls for the first time this year and a little different opposition stepped onto the ice.

This game proved to be a little tighter and certainly gave the boys some idea of things to come.

Just to get a bit of adrenalin going, Fenelon lit the scoreboard first; however, with 49 seconds left in the first, Minden's Chuck Hopkins took a pass from Donald Todd and evened the score at one.

The rest of the game saw some back-and-forth action with the edge being in Minden's favour. Sheamus Donnery took advantage of a break in the second period and put another goal up for us.

The third period saw goals credited to Raymond

Ranson and Nathan Stephenson with assists by Adam Carpenter and Rob Camelon.

Goalie Ashley Walker saw more action this game and was on the spot to make some great saves when the heat was on. Much credit goes to the defensive line of Ben Ripley, Donald Todd and Rob Camelon for their unending efforts assisting Ashley.

They boys play again November 11, at 3 p.m. when Beaverton comes to town. Don't miss this one. There'll be some good clean hockey and lots of action.

Stamp fuels pulls into the lead in men's league

With three wins to their credit, Stamp Fuels has pulled out into the lead in the standings of the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League.

Stamp fuels edged The Times last Monday to maintain their perfect record for the season. In other games, the Rockcliffe Tavern easily handled Westside Jug City while Hartwick Construction handed Home Hardware their first loss.

Home is in second place in the standings with two wins and one loss. The Rockcliffe and Hartwick are tied in third, each with one win, a tie and a loss. The Times is just back in fourth place with one win and two losses while Westside have yet to earn their first win.

ROCKCLIFFE 12, WESTSIDE 3

In the opening game last Monday, The Rockcliffe had no trouble with the Westside team, mounting a 12-3 win.

With four goals from The Rockcliffe's Colin Newell and hat-tricks from Dave Hartwick and Dean Hewitt, the game was a one-sided affair. Ken Casey added the other two Rockcliffe goals to the tally.

Newell's four goals helped boost him to the top of the league's scoring list. He now has 10 goals to his credit.

Scoring for Westside were Kim Hamilton, Merv Mintz and Bart Hilhorst.

HARTWICK 7, HOME 3

Game two of Monday night's action was a little closer as Hartwick outpointed Home 7-3.

Larry Sawyer was the leading scorer for the winning team with three goals.

Jeff Howe, Kevin Hamilton, Ted Vasey and Billy Whittaker each scored one for Hartwick.

The scoring for Home was shared by Scott Hamilton, Doug Schell and Brian Marquardt.

STAMP FUELS 6, TIMES 5

The final game of the night proved to be the closest of the lot as Stamp Fuels edged The Times by a score of 6-5.

Craig Crowe pumped in two goals for Stamp Fuels to bring his scoring record to nine for the season. Lawrence Lougheed added two of his own, while singles came from Greg Newell and Daryl Ward.

The Times' Ivan Ingram scored another two goals in this game to bring his total for the season to nine. Eldon Bull scored two and Dave Rodgers scored one.

The fourth games of the season are slated for tonight. At 7 p.m. Westside takes on Home. Hartwick meets up with The Times at 8:30 p.m., and the Rockcliffe meets Stamp Fuels at 10 p.m.

Home Hardware's goalie, Kevin Smith, had his hands full Monday as Hartwick Construction shovelled the puck into the net seven times to earn the win.

Museum Committee completes active season

The Minden County Town Museum Committee has once again had a busy season. Highlights of our programs are as follows.

Nancy Garbutt showed a professional touch as she created several fine displays of early pioneer life including clothing, tools, toys, china and furniture. Her display of early school artifacts was straight straight from memory lane, and the featured display from John Kernohan's family offered a real insight into life on an early Minden farm.

Wyn Newberry assembled a priceless collection of early Indian arrowheads and pottery, discovered in the Haliburton area, and according to Toronto museum sources some of the artifacts are dated to 500 yrs. B.C. These precious specimens were suitably housed in containers constructed by Bob Harrington and Dick Kirkwood.

Progress on the Bowron Homestead was steady throughout the summer.

Irene Moore capably organized the Sheep to Shawl exhibits for the County Fair and arranged the museum tea room with the assistance of the girl guides and museum committee members.

Nancy Garbutt with the assistance of Murray Robertson created fine displays including early machinery, motors, chain-saws and transportation.

John Hulbig has prepared some very fine interviews of early Haliburton County residents, including pioneer farmers, tourist hosts, miner and bridge builder, and local residents. The latest interview of Grace Irwin reveals many glimpses of early camp and cottage life in the Maple Lake and Boshkung Lake areas. Grace is the author of seven books. The latest, Three Lives in Mine, is available at the Minden library. Her brother Cecil founded the Sherwood Forest Camp in the Carnarvon area. This tape reveals much feeling for life in the Carnarvon region from the early 1900's. If you haven't viewed these museum V.C.R. tapes, your missing some colourful history.

Progress on the Bowron Homestead restoration can be divided into three phases.

The Spring Fling had volunteers swarming over the log building and helping with chinking, white washing the interior, staining the logs to blend with the original colour tone and blending the window and trim colours in heritage fashion.

The Summer Scramble consisted of tearing out the original support logs under the floor and building a level tongue-and-groove floor suitable for the safety of visitors. The stairwell was reconstructed and window trim completed.

The Fall Frolic saw the erection of a large summer kitchen complete with barn-board walls and cedar shingles to blend with the original home. George Hewitt deserves much credit for perserving in spite of many obstacles and closing the home in before winter. Many museum friends helped with the building. Particular credit should be given to Henry Webert, John Hulbig, Denzel Cox, Ross Codlin and Bill Milford.

The museum committee is now wrestling with the concept of interior restoration of an early settler's home of the 1860's. We found white wash on the interior log walls, white wash with laundry blueing on the rafters, wooden wainscoting over the logs in one lower room and a later finish of fine sacking cloth and flour paste and wallpaper over. Any suggestions? We have to keep in mind that each home would have its own decor according to the owner, and successive owners would have added up grades, such as linoleum and wallpaper.

We are looking for furniture for the kitchen, —stove, table, chairs, cooking utensils, bedroom furniture, parlour, etc. Can you help us locate suitable pieces?

The Bowron Homestead project is supported by New Horizons.

A work committee is meeting at the museum at 9 a.m. Tuesday to tidy up the grounds ready for landscaping. Please come and help. Bring a rake and some old gloves.

The Bowron Homestead.

THE HEART FACTS

Q. How does what I eat relate to my chances of having a heart attack or stroke?

A. If you eat fatty foods -- such as butter, whole milk, ice cream, cream cheeses -- or use saturated oil in cooking, your body is taking in too much fat. Eating these foods can lead to a build-up of fatty deposits in the arteries of your heart. Clogged arteries are the leading cause of heart attack and stroke.

1989 Ontario Farm Tax Rebate Program

FACTS ABOUT THE 1989 FARM TAX REBATE PROGRAM

- Ontario farmers will receive some $140 million in farm tax rebates in 1989.
- Some changes have been incorporated into this year's program. The changes to the program apply for 1989 only. A steering committee is advising the ministry on the future direction of the program.
- The 1989 Ontario Farm Tax Rebate Program changes will eliminate benefits to non-farmers and reduce or eliminate benefits to property owners with significant off-farm income.
- The 1989 program provides 100 per cent rebates if you farm your own land, are sole owner on title and make less than $40,000 from sources other than farming. This level is increased to $60,000 where there are two or more owners on title.

- Reduced benefits are available if you make from $40,000 to $60,000 from sources other than farming. This level is increased to $80,000 where there are two or more owners on title.
- Custom work is not counted as off-farm income if it is part of your farm business.
- If you are a retired farmer, spouse of a deceased farmer or if you have reduced production because of illness or age you are exempted from the requirement to personally farm your property.
- Sharecropping arrangements qualify for rebates.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

October was a fairly pleasant month, the first of the month quite wet, last half of the month sunny and warm. Heavy fog in the morning caused driving problems until sun and breeze cleared off the problems.

This October averages a few degrees warmer than last October.

Trivia: November 1987 Villagers in Uganda murdered their local rainmaker/weather observer, blaming him for hailstones and torrential rains which struck the village. Earlier he had threatened the people with hailstones unless they showed him more respect.

A busy month for Ladies Auxiliary

October has proved to be another busy month for the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 636 with various activities and draws having taken place.

Some of the hard work the Ladies Auxiliary has done has paid off for the branch in the form of donations to the Legion, such as the new cash register for the downstairs lounge.

Don't forget the Christmas bazaar, bake and tea sale Saturday, November 25 at 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. There will be a variety of hand-made crafts that the ladies have been working hard on, a bake table and much more. There will be a draw for a hamper full of goodies also. Don't miss it.

The children's Christmas Party is fast approaching. The date will be Sunday, December 10 from 2-4 p.m. This party is for the children and grandchildren of Legion and Ladies Auxiliary members. Please sign your kids up on the sign-up sheet in the entranceway to the legion. (The cut-off date is November 20). During this party, the elephant rocker will be drawn. The tickets are $1 and are available from Ladies Auxiliary members or at the bar at the legion.

Saturday, October 20 was the evening for the Ladies Auxiliary zone sports 'Fun Night'. Plenty of entertainment, music and laughs were had by all. Winners of the door prizes were the following: Sadie, Norma Spears, Irene Higgins and Doug Spears. Winner of the 50/50 draw to support zone sports was B. James.

The flagboard winners were the following: Don Graham, Corrine Arsenault, Herb Roodenburg, T.

Achlengberg, Phyllis Montemiglio, Hazel Maxwell and Jay Sears. Thanks to all who support these various draws and thank you to the Ladies Auxiliary of zone F4 for coming to Branch 636 to make this fun night a success.

Our November general meeting will see our zone commander as a special guest, November 8 at 7:30 p.m.

For those ladies interested, Bobcaygeon Ladies Auxiliary will be holding a "Poppy Tea" Wednesday, November 1 from 2 to 4 p.m. - uniforms please.

Gloria and Georgina are looking for volunteers for the kitchen. If you can help, please give them a call.

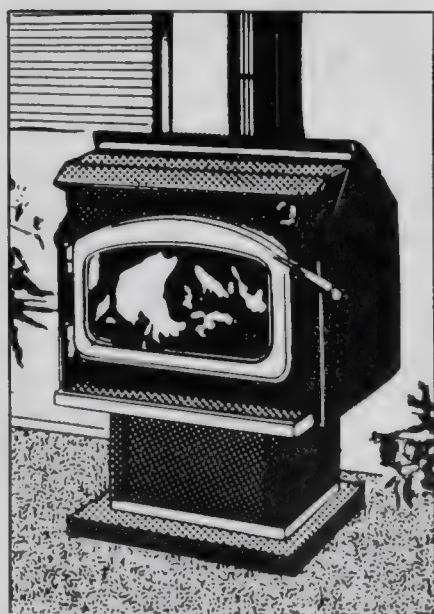

Last, but not least, don't forget to support the Legion Poppy Fund.

generations really mattered. Anyone who is now employed and well paid for work that devastates the environment will find it difficult to accept your approach to survival if it means giving up the job on which his or her own 'survival' seems to depend."

Using the metaphor of the environmental struggle as a war, he continues: "Very few of our warriors for 'the security, well-being, and very survival of the planet' (Our Common Future) earn a living at it. We are trying to win this unprecedented war with volunteers and ... he continues: "Very few of our warriors for 'the security, well-being, and very survival of the planet' (Our Common Future) earn a living at it. We are trying to win this unprecedented war with volunteers and bake sales and begging! If governments refuse to pay the troops, we have to invent other resources to allow workers to switch from life-threatening to life-sustaining ways of earning a living. Bad jobs may have to go, but please help to promote the urgently needed good jobs." Walt Taylor, Smithers, B.C.

Walt has lived by a saying he sent to me and which I find very important: "You can accomplish almost anything, as long as you don't care who gets credit."

And from Claire Sweetman in Hornby, Ont.: "We have received the message, loud and clear ... It seems time now ... to put our actions where our mouths are; time for academia to hit the streets and no longer be put off by the fake promises and stalling tactics of a government on the defensive. 'Nader' may be a dirty word in some circles but we could use a few people with Mr. Nader's crusading spirit, his dedication, courage, zeal and tenacity to help bring those with the power on side."

And finally, a letter from 15-year-old Neal

Burritt of Scarborough, Ont.: "I thought humans were intelligent, compassionate, rational beings, that our minds were strong enough to accomplish anything, for the good of everything. What happened?"

"We POLLUTE the air we breathe, we POISON the food we eat, we pour toxins in the water we drink, we destroy those things that keep us alive and propagate those that will kill us ... We often mean well in our efforts to help an environmental problem but don't look at the real cause of the problem in the first place. An example is spraying lime on lakes subject to acid rain - a good idea on the surface, but when looked at close seems ridiculous. Why not stop the emissions causing acid rain in the first place? ...

"What do you think about drawing up an environmental Bill of Rights, thereby granting clean air, water and land? It would give Joe Averages the ability to take to court any polluters."

Did You Know?

by Doreen Hawman

As a result of the 1989 Ontario budget, OHIP premiums payments will be eliminated as of January 1, 1990. Many individuals are questioning the fact they are now receiving invoices for premiums dating into 1990. As always, premiums are payable three months in advance, invoices new received are due in 1989 but are paying for January - March 1990. The key is that it is due in 1989.

After March 31, 1990, as long as you remain a resident of Ontario, your coverage will be valid without further payment.

If you have any further questions regarding this change, please contact your nearest Information Centre in Haliburton or Minden. Phone 457-2733 Monday to Friday or 286-4100 Monday and Tuesday.

Cult leader faces murder charge

The Burnt River commune leader who led police on a ten week manhunt appeared in a Lindsay court last Monday to face a charge of first degree murder.

Roch Theriault is charged in connection with the death of Solange Boilard, whose skeletal remains were discovered by police on Theriault's Burnt River farm on October 24.

Police suspect that Boilard was killed sometime between September 27 and October 8 of 1988. The exact cause of death is not known.

The charge against Theriault was laid on the basis of police interviews of other members of the commune, known as the Ant Hill Kids.

Theriault did not enter a plea to the murder charge and has been remanded until November 20, when he will appear again.

He is currently serving a 12 year sentence after pleading guilty to criminal negligence causing bodily harm in the assault of a fellow commune member, Gabriel Lavolie.

Theriault pleaded guilty to amputating Lavolie's arm against her will after the limb became infected as the result of an injury.

Also serving time for the assault are commune members Jacques Giguere, Nicole Ruel and Chantal Lavrie.

All those arrested were found near the commune from which they fled shortly after Lavolie had complained to the authorities.

A massive search of the area at the time failed to discover the wanted individuals and police issued Canada-wide warrants for their arrest.

Theriault would not comment on the murder charge as he was being led into the Lindsay courtroom last Monday.

Birthday tea was party held Tuesday

Our birthday tea party was held Thursday afternoon. The Minden Woman's Institute served us with a lovely lunch and a beautiful birthday cake for the residents who celebrated their birthdays in October. They were Tryphina Jenkins October 3, Lucy Burgess October 6, Marjorie McIntosh October 6, Lula Ferrill October 9, Robert Mitchell October 22, Mary Smith October 26, and Robina Thomas October 27. The table looked lovely as well as the ladies and gentlemen around it. We wish to thank the Institute Ladies who brought the tea and Ellen Holden and Mary Guillemin who arranged the auditorium for the tea party.

Thursday evening we had bingo with David Bathe calling. Those present enjoyed the evening very much and thank David for calling the games.

Friday afternoon Happy Hour was held in the auditorium. We expected three gentlemen but they were unable to come so Nancy Gayton kindly came and sang and played the piano. We thank her and appreciate her entertainment very much. The residents wish very much to thank Don and Ellen Holden for their faithfulness and hard work for our benefit. We really, appreciate all they have done.

In the evening the Four Grandfathers came Bill Payne, Eldon Deacon, George Smith and Don Burch. We enjoyed their music and Bill Payne had his two grandsons with him. We thank you all sincerely.

Saturday there were visitors and residents coming and going all day. Pearl Lyle had her daughter Jean and husband George to see her. Ada Turrall was out for dinner. Alice Todd was out with her daughter-in-law. I was out with my son Terry for lunch in Haliburton. Jean Taylor and Mary Smith were away for a couple of days with friends.

Jean Taylor and Mary Smith spent the day out. Ruby Lewis had her daughter Doris and Frank to visit her Sunday night.

Rev. John Burgess took the regular Sunday night service. As an aid to Rev. Burgess and nursing staff we are holding this service at 6:45 instead of 6:15.

The Battle scarred countryside
Now peaceful and still
With only a flag flying
Silently on top of the hill.

Guarding little white crosses
Neatly arranged in a row
Barely visible neath
The fresh fallen snow.

An eerie sad silence
Which hangs all around
Reflects the brave spirit
Of the men underground.

Once a year they're remembered
For great bravery and deed
By prayers and red poppies
To help those alone and in need.

But let's not forget the men
Who have long since been gone
For without their brave deeds
The battle might still be going on.

Trout prosper with CFIP assistance

The Ministry of Natural Resources in Minden District recently supervised the successful completion of two Community Fisheries Involvement Programs (C.F.I.P.) involving the placement of gabion rock on degraded lake trout spawning shoals.

The intention of the CFIP program is to allow the public to become involved in fisheries management projects, such as rehabilitating lake trout spawning beds by increasing the amount of rubble on the shoal. By increasing the thickness of the substrate, the lake trout eggs and developing fry are protected against predation, increasing natural reproduction within the lake.

The recent projects included the placement of 54 tonnes of rock onto a spawning bed in Redstone Lake by the Redstone Lake Cottager's Association, and the placement of 18 tonnes of rock onto a spawning bed in Mississagua Lake by the Mississagua Lake Cottager's Association.

The ministry welcomes project proposals from interested groups such as hunting clubs, community associations and schools wishing to become involved in a CFIP project. Projects should contribute to the natural reproduction and rehabilitation of fisheries habitat. They must improve Ontario's strategies and be of public, rather than private, benefit.

The ministry will, in turn, offer the expertise and financial help, whereas the group must provide volunteer labour to undertake the project. Upon completion of the CFIP project, volunteers will have the satisfaction of contributing to the improvement of fisheries habitat and potentially improving angler opportunities in years to come.

Examples of projects that can be completed are: planting vegetation; stabilizing and restoring stream banks; addition of gravel/rubble to lakes, rivers or streams to create or rehabilitate spawning beds; or monitoring lake trout during spawning run.

Presently, ministry Fish and Wildlife staff are conducting lake trout spawning observations on several lakes within the district to document lake trout spawning and to identify and assess spawning beds.

Linda and Doris attended the Activities Conference in Toronto for three days. They had a busy three days getting new ideas for us.

Tuesday we had lunch in the auditorium of chicken and fish. All Hyland Crest Staff dressed in costumes. Mary Smith and Jean Taylor were judges. The first prize was won by Joan Sawyer, second prize Mark Schell and third prize by Denise Billings.

At two o'clock Mrs. Renick, Mrs. Warburton and Mrs. Nesbitt came for a hymn sing. We appreciate them coming and enjoyed the singing.

In the evening we had two hundred bags of candies ready. The children walked around shaking hands with the residents and on their way out were given a bag of candy. Between the children's arrivals Doris played the piano and we sang old songs we could remember and Linda popped popcorn and passed it around.

Wednesday was spent in meetings most of the day.

Pastor Murray from All-saw held a service in the main lounge Wednesday night.

Speech problems can be corrected

Imagine what it would be like if you couldn't understand what people said to you or you couldn't express yourself clearly to others.

Approximately 10 per cent of children experience problems in one or both of these areas. These types of difficulties are known as communication disorders and they have a significant impact on all areas of a child's life. If your child has a communication disorder, his social life, academic life and self concept may be negatively affected.

The most important language learning years are from 0 to 4 years of age. As an infant your child is already learning important skills for good communication.

Cooing, babbling and other "sound play" are important first steps for talking. Single words begin to appear at one year of age and over the next year their number rapidly increases. When the child reaches two years of age he begins to combine words, and between the ages of two and three more words are combined to make longer sentences. As children grow older they begin to use correct grammatical forms which make their sentences more adult-like. By the time the child reaches five years of age he is able to use most grammatical structures correctly.

A child who is late in talking or who does not follow the above patterns may find himself continuously behind his peers in learning basic concepts, developing friendships and learning social rules. Therefore, early identification of communication problems may prevent related difficulties in these areas.

An awareness of warning signs at different stages in a child's communication development can help individuals determine if a communication assessment is warranted. The following warning signs should be used as a guideline:

- the 12-month-old who does not echo sounds, understand some words (e.g. "come here"), or recognize familiar sounds (e.g. the phone or the door bell).
- the 18-month-old who cannot identify common body parts, follow simple directions or produce a few meaningful words.
- the 2-year-old who is not beginning to produce word combinations, able to identify common objects or able to understand "who", "what" and "where" questions.

- the 3-year-old who is difficult for most people to understand, doesn't talk in almost complete sentences or doesn't ask questions.
- the 4-year-old who is not understood 90 per cent of the time, doesn't speak in complete sentences or cannot tell stories in an organized way.
- the 5-year-old whose sounds (except r, th and v) are not correct and who cannot carry on a conversation.

Five Counties Children's Centre provides outreach services to preschool children in Haliburton County. Parents who are concerned should ask their doctor to make a referral to Five Counties Children's Centre for an assessment. For more information, contact the Centre's speech department at 748-2221.

There is life after the city if you know where to look

by Joel Levis

Life After the City is just the guide to rural living for those of us who may not be sure of exactly what we want and what we may get if we make too hasty a commitment to the non-city environment.

The author made his break from the monoxide rat-race nearly 15 years ago and like so many others, has never looked back. Maybe he was just fortunate but when you read what he has to say, you will agree that his approach was both logical and well considered.

Over the years, he has watched his friends and ex-neighbours struggle with their fat mortgages and the stresses of life in the fast track while he has never looked back.

"The smart money," he says, "is moving to the country" and in this book he tried to make holders of this wealth benefit from his own experiences and observations.

His entertaining and sensible approach has something for everyone from the newly retired to the young family unable to make it in the big town without spending their lives available through your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library.

CARD OF THANKS

To Dr. Holliday-Rhodes of the Rhodes Medical Centre and to the staff of Minden Hospital, thank you for making my stay in the hospital a short and pleasant one. I attribute my short stay to the excellent and expert care by Dr.
Holliday-Rhodes. I found the nursing staff to be very efficient and understanding. I do have a complaint about the food! I gained 5 lbs. in a week and a half! Thanks again for making me feel like a VIP.

TO ALL OUR STUDENTS AND OUR COMMUNITIES

Because of the continued work stoppage by Ontario community college teachers, Sir Sandford Fleming College has postponed all full time and part time classes, both day and evening, until a settlement is reached.

We sincerely regret the inconvenience caused by the disruption. Plans are underway to reschedule all courses once the dispute has been settled. This may mean extending the length of certain courses, or revising class schedules. We assure you that we will be doing everything in our power to assist students and clients to successfully complete their course requirements in as flexible a manner as possible.

We are looking forward to being able to resume our service as soon as possible. Thank you for your patience and understanding during this period.
